UTAH GOODS HAVE NO MARKET NAME

Logan, Utah, Feb. 22.—The Farmers' Society of Equity of Cache valley met here yesterday, two sessions being held in the rooms of the B. Y. college. There was a very good attendance and many matters of interest to members of the society were discussed.

At the morning meeting M. A. Gill of Hyrum made the principle address. His topic was "Utah Apples" and he said that experiment and observation had convinced him that the Utah apple is perhaps the finest one on the market today, particularly the Jonathan. Yet it has no reputation because of the careless sorting and packing of the growers. In producing honey he had had the same experience—when he was producing it in Colorado he always had a good market, yet when he came to Utah some five or six years ago and began producing a better quality of honey, if anything, he could not get sale for it because shippers had not taken the pains to establish a reputation for his honey.

W. G. Reese discussed the purchasing of far machinery. In the afternoon C. D. Funk of Richmond talked on buying coal, lumber and wire, and J. S. McCann of Preston, Idaho, had for his subject "The Marketing of Grain and Hogs." F. Allen Roche of Tremonton told of the manner in which the Cash Buyers' association of Boxelder county conducted its affairs, and County Organized John M. Israelson also made an address.

ENGINEER ON O. S. L. IS UNDER ARREST

Pocatello, Ida., Feb. 22.—Considerable surprise was expressed here, especially in railroad circles, when Sheriff Lowry returned this morning from Butte, Mont., having in custody "Dick" Soules, well and popularly known in this city for a number of years as an efficient engineer of the Oregon Short Line, who is charged with robbing the Corner pharmacy, and substation postoffice one week ago.

Soules is an intimate friend of the proprietors of the pharmacy and has been around the store a large part of his time. It is alleged that in this way he became familiar with the hiding place of money and formed a plan of entrance. He is charged with the theft of more than $200. Sheriff Lowry says the evidence is strong against Soules.

Soules left Pocatello at 6 o'clock on the morning after the robbery. He was captured in Great Falls, Mont. He only had $6 in money at the time of his arrest but had a new diamond ring. Many of Soules' friends believe him to be innocent.

TRAINS TURNED BACK BY HEAVY STORMS IN NEVADA

Floods which have prevailed over California and Nevada for several days have temporarily tied up railroad traffic and have seriously delayed telegraph and telephone communication. Floods sweeping the tracks of the Salt Lake Route near Los Angeles and the derailment Friday night near Caliente of two large engines pulling the Overland express, will cause the Salt Lake Route to suspend travel for nearly a week over almost the entire length of the road from Salt Lake to Los Angeles.

Owing to terrific storms all over California telegraph messages from nearly every point on the coast have been late in arriving. Night letters sent out from Los Angeles Saturday night did not arrive until last night. Postal telegraph business from the coast was dispatched yesterday by way of Denver, but despite the extra distance day business yesterday was received very nearly on time. Much damage was done telephone lines throughout California and Nevada, and it said that in many places in both states communication by telephone was entirely cut off.

Travelers going west and holding tickets over the Salt Lake Route will have their tickets changed so that they may go west by the Southern Pacific. The first special train over the Southern Pacific, carrying passengers, who were routed Salt Lake Route, left last night at 10:30 o'clock.

Owing to the slow rate of speed at which the Overland express, which was derailed at Caliente Friday night, was proceeding, serious wreckage was avoided and no persons were injured. The heavy rains completely washed away the track bed near Caliente, but as the soft track was on a curve the engineer did not see the danger until the wheels of the locomotive had already become derailed. The engineer and fireman jumped to avert injury and the second engine kept working until both turned over. The engines continued on the ties about forty-five feet.

The train was delayed for nearly twenty-four hours until a wrecking train and crew arrived to right the engines. The Overland express is a two-night train between Los Angeles and Salt Lake. It left Los Angeles at 8 o'clock Thursday night and was made up of two locomotives, mail car, baggage car, day coach, chair car, tourist sleeper, standard sleeper and dining car. About fifty-five passengers were aboard. The accident occurred about midnight Friday night, half way between Caliente and Minto, Nev., which is about nine miles east of Caliente.

The Los Angeles Limited, trains No. 7, which left Salt Lake Friday and Saturday respectively, were stopped at Caliente yesterday and were turned back to Salt Lake. They will be dispatched west again over the Oregon Short Line to Ogden and the Southern Pacific to San Francisco. The Pacific Limited and the Los Angeles Limited out of Los Angeles on Friday, were stopped at Las Vegas and made into one train. It was derailed over the Las Vegas, Tonopah and Goldfield line and the Nevada & California road to Hazen, Nev., thence over the Southern Pacific tracks.

When the Los Angeles Limited trains No. 19 of Saturday were turned back from Caliente, they were consolidated into one train which arrived in Ogden from Salt Lake at 7 o'clock last evening and departed over the Southern Pacific as first No. 5. This train will proceed to Sacramento and south over the valley line of the S. P. to Los Angeles. The Los Angeles Limited of Saturday has also been turned back and is scheduled to arrive in Ogden tomorrow morning.

Officials of the Southern Pacific have received information to the effect that there has been a heavy rainfall in the vicinity of Carlin, Nev., but the tracks thus far have not been damaged.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who may easily dispense with them. You may be one of these and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription which has benefited the eyes of so many may work equally wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription: Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optima tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one tablet and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With the liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvellously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned, don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription—Advertisement.

SUIT DISMISSED
Pocatello, Idaho, Feb. 22.—The ouster suit which was brought against Sheriff Lowry some time ago for alleged irregular conditions around the county jail, was dismissed yesterday by County Attorney C. Douglas Smith. The reason for dropping the charge is because two of the deputies who were involved in the charges have been dismissed by Sheriff Lowry and other conditions have been materially changed. The cause for the ouster being now lacking, it was dismissed, and now the two departments of the county are working in perfect harmony.

TRIO CONFESS TO ROBBING STRANGER

Salt Lake, Feb. 22.—Two women and one man were arrested yesterday by Detectives Moroni Gillespie and H. D. Lyon for the alleged robbery of Jesse Hamilton, of Memphis, Tenn., and $267 stolen from him Saturday night was recovered by the detectives. The money was found buried in a yeast powder can.

Hamilton complained to the police Saturday night that he was robbed at the house of P. J. Wade, 48 North Sixth West street. He said that he went with Wade to the Wade residence early in the evening and that there he met a young woman named Fern Stoker. Before long he discovered that he had been robbed and felt sure that the money had been taken after he arrived at the Wade house.

After working on the case Saturday night and Sunday morning, the detectives arrested the Stoker girl and Wade and his wife, Viola Wade. Miss Stoker admitted taking the money and Wade and his wife finally told where they buried it in a can at the south side of the house. The detectives dug up the can and found all of Hamilton's cash in it. The three were charged with robbery and the money was held as evidence.

Hamilton was on his way to Portland and had stopped off here for a visit. Yesterday he reported to the police that he had only $5 left with which to continue his journey, unless he chose to wait until the case against the three who are alleged to have robbed him should be disposed of and the recovered money should be free for him to claim.

THE BEST PROOF

Given by an Ogden Citizen.

Doan's Kidney Pills were used—they brought benefit.

The story was told to Ogden residents.

Time has strengthened the evidence.

Has proven the result lasting.

The testimony is home testimony—

The proof convincing.

It can be investigated by Ogden residents.

R. H. Tully, stationary engineer, 559 21st St., Ogden, Utah, says: "The strain of my work brought on kidney trouble, as was shown by lameness and pains in my back and other distressing symptoms. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family in England and so I went to McIntyre's Drug Store and procured a supply. They removed the trouble after I had taken two boxes."

NO TROUBLE SINCE.

REV. GOSHEN PRAISES THE JEWISH RACE

Salt Lake, Feb. 22.—Declaring that the Jewish race and the Jewish religion have done as much in the civilization of the world as any other race or religion, the Rev. Elmer I. Goshen, of the First Congregational church, spoke briefly at St. Paul's Episcopal church last evening on the influence of the Jewish race upon civilization.

The Rev. Mr. Goshen recounted the history of the Jews for centuries past and said that since the time of Moses the Jews had changed materially for the better in their faith. The Hebrew faith, he said, has given many sublime truths to the world, although centuries ago civilization was hindered by many harmful teachings of the Jews. The blood atonement, believed in by the Jews, was a hindrance to the race and was distinctly not the teachings of Jesus, according to the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Goshen said in part: "Moses, the great leader and emancipator of the Jews, had the secret teachings. For many years the Hebrews were given to no faith and lived without hope. Moses heard of the Supreme God and he held the Egyptian superstitions in abhorrence. It is well that two deities came into religion twelve centuries ago and although the Jews believed in many gods, they only worshiped one. As the Hebrews grew, worship one God their religion became purer and better."

"God is known as the Lord of hosts. It is difficult to form a correct conclusion of the contribution a religion makes to the world. No religion is all good or all bad. Humanity is human, no matter what the faith. David was at times held to ridicule and sarcasm because he is said to have committed a social sin. But on the other hand David was a son of the orient. He was passionate, cruel and brutal and his sin cost him much. Many deeds recorded of men in the old testament, however, would land the perpetrator in jail today."

"Some of the finest lessons of family life have been given to civilization by the Jews. Both the ancient and modern methods of their living have taught many races the economic as well as the social side of life. God is the one deity of the universe. He speaks to everyone in each one's proportionate ability to hear Him. There never was a time when all men can think alike because God didn't make them that way. I believe we can look forward to the day when all races and men of all religions can join hands in one body for the mutual benefit of everyone; to a day when we may forget that there is any race and when we can remember and be taught the same faith of the One Great Father."

TRAPPER AND HUNTER OF GRAND CANYON GAME

When the Kaibab national forest of northern Arizona has been made accessible to the tourist by the proposed railroad from Maryvale, Utah, it will be possible for visitors to become acquainted with "Uncle Jim" Owens, the famous trapper and hunter of the Grand Canyon and one of the most interesting of characters, according to the forestry officials of the Fourth district headquarters who have visited that section. Mr. Owens is warden of the Grand Canyon game refuge.

To Warden Owens falls the extremely dangerous duty of protecting the domestic animals grazed on the forest reserves and also the wild animals of the game refuge and the attacks of the predatory animals such as cougars and coyotes. Mr. Owens' services can be appreciated when it is known that in his first three seasons in the Grand Canyon he brought in 125 cougar pelts, in addition to roping three of the animals alive, and killed hundreds of coyotes.

The following story, illustrative of his persistence when on the trail of a "varmint," is told by an official of the district office who recently visited the Kaibab forest:

"After a long chase a cougar slipped by the old game warden and, by going down the face of a cliff, secreted himself in one of the many cracks that abound. This temporary disappointment only served to spur Jim on to greater efforts and he insisted that the forest ranger who was with Jim let him down the cliff with a rope."

"The ranger had too much regard for Uncle Jim's welfare and declined, whereupon Jim insisted that he was going down anyway and the ranger finally lowered him to a little shelf just wide enough for a footing. When the old man did not make any signal for a time, the ranger looked down and was startled to see that the rope was swinging free. The warden had abandoned the rope, located the cougar in a crack and, finding that he could not look and shoot at the same time, he first looked in and took his bearings."

"Then he withdrew far enough to shoot and the big cat came rolling out, but nearly took Jim down the cliff. Neither hunter heard the animal light, but the distance of the drop can be appreciated from the fact that it took an entire day to go down and get the pelt and bring it into camp."

Game Warden Owens was born in Texas where he was engaged in the cattle business and in assisting at the Goodnight ranch in handling elk, deer and buffalo. A year prior to his move to the Grand Canyon, he was employed as game warden in the Yellowstone National park. He is a trapper and hunter of the old school and maintains a string of horses, mules and burros, together with a pack of well trained bloodhounds. The forestry men also maintain that his gun is well trained and his present weapon is a present from his close friend and hunting companion, Colonel Roosevelt.

"Considering the vast amount of damage a full grown cougar can do in one year, among game and stock, the value of Mr. Owens' services can be appreciated in the protection of game and the domestic animals grazed on the Kaibab forest. During the making of his three years' record of 125 cougars, the warden's largest kill was five full grown cougars in one day, although that day started at the streak of dawn and ended with a climb from almost the bottom of the main Grand Canyon about midnight."

Large Reserve.
"The game refuge over which 'Uncle Jim' presides contains nearly one and one-half million acres and the larger portion on the north side of the Colorado river is administered in connection with the Kaibab national forest. With the construction of a railroad by which it can be reached, prominent hunters declare that this section bids fair to become one of the most popular playgrounds of the outdoor public in the entire west."

"Although the animals were ruthlessly slaughtered by roving bands of Navajo Indians in the early days, deer have multiplied rapidly since the first withdrawal in 1906. Since the enactment of the protective law the deer have no enemies other than the predatory animals, but losses from this cause are very large. The killings by cougars, wolves and coyotes, especially among the fawns, are enormous. It is not uncommon for a forest ranger to come across four or five fresh deer carcasses in one day's ride."

"Uncle Jim Owens estimated that at the present time there are 20,000 head of deer on what is known to the 'old timers' as Buckskin mountain, in the northern section of the preserve. They are increasing rapidly, and restocking the surrounding country to the north as far as the Sevier valley, as well as to the east and west. The old warden refers to the deer and other of the game animals as his pets and is looking forward into his domain in order that many may have the chance to become personally acquainted with this little known wonderland."

TWO GREATEST MEN IN OUR HISTORY

Salt Lake, Feb. 23.—Characterizing Washington and Lincoln as the two greatest men in American secular history, Apostle Orson F. Whitney from the pulpit of the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon delivered an earnest and forceful address largely devoted to eulogy of patriotism and the divine work accomplished by the father of his country.

Aside from the doctrinal expositions which marked the speaker's discourse, he laid specific stress upon the value and power of patriotism and the devotion to national institutions shown by the Mormon people. "No people," he declared, "are more capable of showing or more willing to show their appreciation of the work done by the great patriots than are the Latter-day Saints. We have been accused of disseminating a spirit of dissension and scattering wharves are in truth working for unity, harmony and peace, and we recognize in the achievements of Washington, Lincoln and other great lights of American history the carrying out of the divine purpose."

After analyzing and commenting upon prophecies in the Book of Mormon, which he declared were made 600 years B. C., Apostle Whitney went on to say that the founders of Mormonism and the patriots had alike worked for the perpetuity of the kingdom of God.

"We recognize the good work of others, we don't pretend to be able to accomplish inside the church all there is to be done."

Speaking somewhat at length upon the life and character of Washington, Apostle Whitney declared that Washington's greatness lay as much in his ability to break away from his aristocratic training and ally himself with the cause of an oppressed people, as in his other attainment of mind and character. "Not a great orator, not a great lawyer, perhaps not even the greatest general, his steadfast devotion to principle and high ideals, his willingness to starve and suffer, his ability to combat intrigue and treachery, all added to glorify his name and mark him as the instrument of God in the accomplishment of a divine purpose. Mormonism is proud to be an institution under the Stars and Stripes, the banner of liberty."

Anthony H. Lund of the first presidency conducted the services, opened by the choir singing "Hark, Listen to the Trumpet." Sylvester C. Cannon offered the invocation, and Apostle Whitney's address the choir sang "Who is on the Lord's Side?" The services closed with the singing of "America," by choir and congregation. The benediction was pronounced by Elder Schulthes of the Liberty stake presidency.

WORK IS STOPPED

Pocatello, Idaho, Feb. 22.—As a result of the decision of the public utilities commission, which was that the Beaver River Electric company had no cause to invade Pocatello, Twin Falls and other cities, where good service was already being rendered, the work of that company here in Pocatello has stopped. It is anticipated that the case will be appealed to the supreme court. The Beaver River company has already established machinery here to the value of many thousands of dollars.

ACCIDENT OCCURS ON CITY BRANCH

Salt Lake, Feb. 23.—An accident in which no one was injured occurred at Kimball, three miles west of Park City on the Park City branch of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the pony trucks of the engine pulling the Park City local into Salt Lake left the tracks. The engine was in charge of Engineer Joseph Bywater.

It is not known how the front wheels of the engine became derailed. The train was slowing down for a stop at Kimball when Engineer Bywater noticed the derailment. He quickly brought the train to a complete stop. A relief engine from Park City was used to right the pony trucks of the derailed engine and the train arrived in Salt Lake at 6:30 o'clock last night. The accident caused a delay of about an hour and a half on the trip.

STOLEN MONEY IS FOUND IN A CAN

Salt Lake, Feb. 23.—Moroni Gillespie and H. D. Lyon, city detectives, armed themselves yesterday with pick and shovel and began digging in the rear of 44½ North Sixth West for buried treasure. When only a few spadeful of earth had been removed the treasure was found. It was a large baking powder can containing a wallet which held $267 in bills.

The buried treasure is the property of Jesse Hamilton, said to be a merchant of Memphis, Tenn. It had been hidden in the ground since Saturday evening when he complained to the police of having been robbed at the home of Parley J. Wade, who lives at the address where the treasure was found. Wade, together with his wife, Mrs. Viola Wade, 19 years of age, and Mrs. Fern Stoker, 23 years of age, are in the city prison charged with robbery. Wade is 22.

Hamilton says that upon arriving in Salt Lake Saturday, he met Wade and finding him a congenial companion, visited many saloons with him. Finally Wade invited him to his home. There Hamilton says he was introduced to Mrs. Stoker. After two hours of merriment he left the house and when he arrived down town discovered he had been robbed, he says.

Detectives Gillespie and Lyon at first doubted the story of Hamilton, but yesterday morning they began an investigation, resulting in the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Stoker. At first they denied knowledge of the money lost by Hamilton, but after more questioning, the detectives declare Mrs. Stoker confessed that all three conspired to rob the tourist and that the money was buried in their back yard.

Hamilton was uncertain regarding the amount of money taken from him. He said originally that it was a little more than $200. The detectives were dumfounded when they discovered the wallet in a baking powder can. Hamilton, however, upon being requested to describe the denomination of the bills summarized twenty-six $10 bills, a $5 bill and two $1 bills.

HIDE BREAD UNDER COATS

AT LAST FREE MEALS
San Francisco, Feb. 22.—San Francisco closed its municipal dining room today and hereafter no more free meals will be served the unemployed. The reason for the action was that the city's emergency appropriation of $30,000 is exhausted.

More than 2000 men lined up today in a pouring rain for the final free breakfast, and a detail of police was on hand to prevent the petty pilfering of tableware. Many suspected of carrying away utensils were searched and a quantity of knives, forks and tin mugs was yielded. No attempt was made by the police to take away whole loaves or half eaten loaves which some of the men concealed beneath their coats.

Since the city began to dispense free meals on Christmas eve, the number of meals served has totaled 217,897.
